

Muneeb Riaz

Computer Engineer

I'm a fresh Computer Engineering graduate with a fierce passion for web development. My approach is guided by two key questions: "How?" and "Why?". I believe in taking a deep dive into the logic behind coding decisions to gain an extra edge. I blend technical skills with creativity to develop innovative solutions. Always eager to stay updated with the latest trends in web development, I'm committed to delivering excellence in future endeavors.

PERSONAL PROJECTS

CRUD Truck Dispatching Web App (Reactjs) (04/2022 - 05/2022)

- Truck Dispatching is an online website for people who wants to get professional dispatch services for their trucks. People can get services from their personal dispatcher by hiring them online.This was my first solo project which was developed using MERN stack.

Internet Cloud Based Freight Forwarding and Management System (11/2021 - 07/2022)

- I collaborated in developing of this app.Customers were able to book the truck to move their freight by sitting anywhere anytime by selecting the truck type,weight limit,truck model etc on customer's app,while drivers were able to get the new shipment by looking for freights around them on driver's app. This project was developed using Flutter.

Hospital Management System in C language (04/2020 - 07/2020)

- The Comsats Hospital management system project is console Application with no visuals that was created for the university hospital i.e., Comsats. File handling was mostly used in this project to handle simple activities like as adding, editing, searching, and deleting records
